There are things you can't buy. For example faith.

I.K.B. was founded in 1979 by Klaus-Peter Bergerhoff. Since this time, with a lot of successful projects, we gained something very valuable: the faith of our costumers. They appreciate our professionalism, our fairness and the principles of our company, that make the difference to most of our competitors.

» More flexibility:

Our team consists of 10 engineers. We deliberately decided to keep such a compact structure, and the results of years justice this decision.

» More service:

One partner – full service - mechanical engineering, automatisisation and architecture, statics and economics. Your personal contact is in each phase of the project side by side with you.

» More experience:

Everybody in the I.K.B. staff has experiences in practice - partly in managerial post. Beside their professional experience they have something you can't learn at school – a keen sense of each of your projects.

I.K.B. offers consulting and planning, rationalisation and realisation: optimised material flow and efficient production. Useful personal planning and intelligent logistics – this are only some of the subjects we are dealing with each day. Our international experience contains also exceptional areas as the HACCP-concept.

We don't just make big plans. We put them into action.

On request we implement all projects completely, which we develop and plan. I.K.B. finds the specialised suppliers and guarantees for an exact coordination, with smooth transitions at the interfaces. In addition we control all works, costs and appointments. This professional project management is completed by a full documentation and a fair after-sales-service.

IKB: The specialist for intelligent solutions.

Clear structures

You don't have changing contacts at I.K.B., but an experienced project manager, who smoothly coordinates all phases of the project.

Valuable know-how-transfer

The complex I.K.B. experiences in different sectors pay off for you. Our costumers in the food sector for example benefit from our experiences in the chemical sector – and vice versa.

No undesired standstills

The conversions run on full speed as your production does. The I.K.B. full service takes care of the demanding organisation and coordination between conversion works and running production.

Intelligent solutions

Single plants or new factories, building or technique – we develop solutions, which fit perfectly in the existing structures.
